

Two-year Master's Program

(1) Application Period for Admissions in 2006

From January 6th on Thursday to 14th on Friday

(2) Divisions and Maximum Number of Students to be Admitted

Divisions	Specializations	Maximum Number
Humane Studies	Japanese Literature, History of Japanese Thought, Chinese Linguistics and Literature, Chinese Thought and Philosophy, Indology and History of Indian Buddhism, English Literature, English Linguistics, German Literature, French Linguistics and Literature, Philosophy, Ethics	89 students
Linguistic Studies	Linguistics, Japanese Linguistics, Teaching of Japanese Language
Historical Studies	Japanese History, Archeology, Science of Cultural Properties, East Asian History, European History, Eastern and Japanese Art History, Aesthetics and Western Art History, Comparative Studies of Cultural History
Human Science	Sociology, Behavioral Science, Psychology, Cultural Anthropology, Science of Religion and History of Religions, Science Technology and Society

(Note)

The maximum number of students includes those who have already been admitted to the Graduate School through the General Entrance Examinations in September and Special Selection for Working Adult in September and February.

(3) Procedures for Selection for University Graduates

Selection of the applicant to this program is made on comprehensive judgment based on 1) scholastic examination to test scholastic ability 2) submitted documents.

(a) Schedule for Examination

Date	Examination Subject	Time
February, 1st in 2006	Specialized Subject	9:30~11:30
	First Foreign Language	13:00~15:00
February, 2nd in 2006	Second Foreign Language and subject related to your specialization	9:30~11:10
	Oral Examination	13:00~

(b) Examination Subjects

Foreign students who take an examination in the specialization flagged with an asterisk can choose Japanese as first foreign language. However, students who choose Japanese as first foreign language must choose the second foreign language that is not their native language.

Divisions	Specializations	Written Examination			Oral Examination	Remarks
		Specialized Subject	First Foreign Language	Second Foreign Language or subject related to your specialization
Humane Studies	*Japanese Literature	Examination in your specialized field of study	Choose one language among English, German, French and Chinese	Interpretation of Japanese classic	Oral examination in the knowledge on your major and research ability	Do not choose your native language as first foreign language.
	*History of Japanese Thought
	Chinese Linguistics and Literature		Chinese	Choose one language among English, German, French.		You can refer to a dictionary in second foreign language examination.
	Chinese Thought and Philosophy		Choose one language among English, German, French and Chinese	Choose one language that you do not choose as first foreign language from the left section listed		You can choose the Chinese text as second foreign language, except students who choose the Chinese as first foreign language. Dictionaries permitted for the second foreign language examination.
	Indology and History of Indian Buddhism		Choose one language either German or French.	You can choose second foreign language among Sanskrit, Pali, and Tibetan.
	English Literature		German	Choose one language either English or French.		You can refer to a dictionary in second foreign language examination.
	English Linguistics
	German Literature		French	Choose one language either English or German.
	French Linguistics and Literature
	*Philosophy		Choose one language among English, German, and French	Choose one language that you do not choose as first foreign language from the left section listed.
Ethics

Divisions	Specializations	Written Examination			Oral Examination	Remarks
		Specialized Subject	First Foreign Language	Second Foreign Language or subject related to your specialization
Linguistic Studies	*Linguistics	Examination in your specialized field of study	Choose one language among English, German, and French	Choose one language that you do not choose as first foreign language from the left section listed or from Chinese and Russian	Oral examination in the knowledge on your major and research ability	You can refer to a dictionary in second foreign language examination.
	*Japanese Linguistics		Choose one language among English, German, French and Chinese	Interpretation of Japanese classic		Do not choose your native language as first foreign language.
	*Teaching of Japanese Language			Foreign language related to your specialization (in English)
*Japanese History	Reading comprehension on the historical materials			Do not choose your native language as first foreign language.
Historical Studies	*Archeology		Examination in your specialized field of study	Choose one language among English, German, French and Chinese		Reading comprehension on the material	Oral examination in the knowledge on your major and research ability
	*Science of Cultural Properties					Reading comprehension on the material
	*East Asian History Linguistics	Choose one language that you do not choose as first foreign language from the left section listed.			You can choose the Chinese text as second foreign language, except students who choose it as first foreign language. You can refer to a dictionary in second foreign language examination.
	European History	Choose one language among English, German, and French
	*Eastern and Japanese Art History	Choose one language among English, German, French and Chinese		Reading comprehension on the historical materials	You can refer to a dictionary in second foreign language

Divisions	Specializations	Written Examination			Oral Examination	Remarks
		Specialized Subject	First Foreign Language	Second Foreign Language or subject related to your specialization
Historical Studies	Aesthetics and Western Art History	Examination in your specialized field of study	Choose one language among English, German, French, Italian and Dutch	Choose one language that you do not choose as first foreign language from the left section listed.	Oral examination in the knowledge on your major and research ability
	Comparative Studies of Cultural History		English	Foreign language related to your specialization (in English)		Answering for written and oral examination is in Japanese.
Human Science	*Sociology		Choose one language among English, German, and French	Choose one foreign language related to your specialization from the left section listed.		Foreign language related to your specialization (in English)		You can refer to a dictionary in second foreign language examination except English.
	*Behavioral Science
	*Psychology
	*Cultural Anthropology
	*Science of Religion and History of Religions
Science Technology and Society	Choose one language among English, German, French and Chinese			You can refer to a dictionary in second foreign language examination

 Procedures for Selection for Working Adult's Program

(Eligibility for Application)

Those who have undergone two more years of professional career (working in private enterprise, governmental and municipal offices, educational institution, and volunteer activity and so on) may apply to this program, completing sixteen years of formal education. Selection of the applicant to this program is made on comprehensive judgment based on 1) examination to test scholastic ability 2) submitted documents.

(a) Schedule for Examination

Date	Examination Subject	Time
February, 1st in 2006	Written Examination(also including examination in major subject, foreign language related to your specialization, reading comprehension on material and so on)	9:30~11:30
	Oral Examination	15:30~